b. Advertising content that may be considered inappropriate by Media Company and will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis:

- Involves an advertiser in a category where Media Company has previously granted exclusive rights to another party.
- Unreasonable or highly unlikely product or service claims.
- Double entendres.
- Controversial topics (social issues, etc.).

c. The advertising content must be clearly identifiable as an advertisement and may not be disguised as editorial content, as determined by Media Company.

- Advertisers must fulfill the advertised offer as stated in the advertisement, including, without limitation, not altering any offer periods, product offers or prices that are stated in the advertisement; unless Advertiser has obtained Media Company's prior approval.

- d. Where personal information is solicited on the Advertiser's landing page:
- Any collection of personal information must be in full compliance with all privacy laws.
  - Advertiser must clearly explain to the guest how Advertiser will use the personal information collected.
  - Advertiser must provide all guests with an alternate user experience that doesn't require submitting personal information.
- e. Use of Media Company's assets requires the pre-approval of the applicable Media Company Sites.
